

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Peptides which are peptide derivatives of the α D region of a protein kinase can modulate the activity of protein kinases. The activity of a protein kinase in a subject can be modulated by administering one or more of these peptides.